
Acknowledgements

Particular thanks to Anne and Arturo Grant, Iannis Stamiris (the novelist), Alexandros Rallis of the Greek Embassy in London, Helen Cosmetatos of the Corgialenios Historical And Cultural Museum in Argostoli, Cephallonia, Giovanni Camisa, and the staff of Earlsfield Public Library in London. None of them, of course, are responsible in any way for my interpretation of the information that they gave.

I am very indebted to innumerable books, but in particular to the following:

RICHARD CAPELL: Simiomata, Macdonald and Co, date unknown.

MARIO CERVI: Storia della Guerra di Grecia, Sugar Editore, 1965.

KAY CICELLIS: The Easy Way, Harvill Press, 1950.

JOHN EVANS: Time After Earthquake, Heinemann, 1954.

NICHOLAS GAGE: Hellas, Collins Harvill, 1987.

RICHARD LAMB: War in Italy 1943–1945, John Murray, 1993.

DENNIS MACK SMITH: Mussolini, Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1981.

E.C.W. MYERS: Greek Entanglement, Rupert Hart-Davis, 1955.

MARCELLO VENTURI: The White Flag, Blond, 1966.

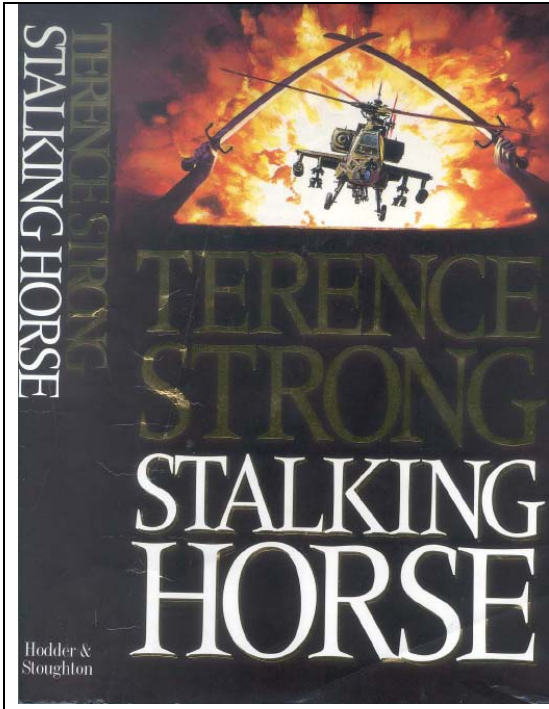
My apologies to Caroline for so many late meals and neglected duties.



institutions – the Irish Livestock and Meat Board and the Turf Club – that persons of those names have not been associated with them.

Once more I am indebted to numerous people who have kindly given so generously their time and expertise in helping me put the pieces of this story together, including those who prefer to be unnamed for reasons of security:
IN LONDON: To Neil and to Leslie for helping to put an agent in place; Robin Horsfall of Immediate Response Security; Dave Reynolds of Photopress, good friend and one of the first journalists into freed Kuwait; Bob Burns of the Liverpool Echo for his insights into Merseyside life; Frank Dunne of Dr Barnardo's; Dave Smith of the Walton Probation Service; Mrs Freely of St Francis de Sales; the MOD Chemical & Biological Defence Establishment at Porton Down; my typist Judy Coombes for meeting an impossible deadline (again!), and Alexandros Rallis of the Greek Embassy in London for opening doors.
IN THE UNITED STATES: To Simone Hammarstrand – "my man" in Washington – and "TW" Adams for their enthusiasm and introductions; Dr Clifford Attick Kiracofe Jnr who adopted Lew Corrigan as his own, with a little help from journalist Brian Duffy; Neil C Livingstone for outlining Washington's preparations against terrorism; Bob Kupperman of CSIS for advice on the dark arts of terrorism, unconventional warfare and "simulations"; journalist Holly Hershfield for making it special; Bill for putting me right; Major George Rhynedance, Special Forces; Lt Commander Pietropaoli, US Navy, Norfolk; Lt Jack Papp, US Navy, London, and Lt Dave Lee, US Navy, Naples.
IN ATHENS: To Paul Anast of Freepress who targeted Soúda Bay; journalist Angelos Stangos for his advice and hospitality; Nelly Moucacou; Kate Smith of the British Embassy, and Colonel Vasallis Sagonas of the Anti-Terrorist Police.
IN CRETE: To Linda Crosby-Diamandi and her orange-picker friends who brought it all to life, and to the inspirational Lt Commander Barbara Valenti. I thank you all for making this story possible.

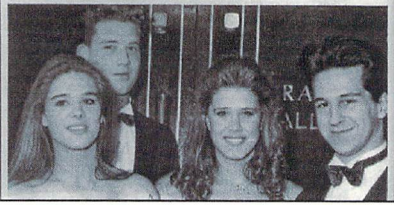
Ackwoledgements

…and Alexandros RALLIS of the Greek Embassy for opening doors

Δημοσιογραφική Κάλυψη Κοινωνικής Εκδήλωσης στο Λονδίνο, (Μάρτιος 1996)

Miss Isabelle Pellas, Mr James Kelly and Mrs Gabriella Frediani (above), Mrs Chrysanthy Pateras and Mrs Marika Lemos (below)

Miss Cleanthi Christodoulou, Mr Alex Papalexis, Miss Sophia Papalexis and Mr Thanos Papalexis at the Greek Independence Ball (below)



His Eminence Gregorios, Archbishop of Thyateira and Great Britain and Mr Alexandros Rallis (below)

THE GREEK INDEPENDENCE BALL

More than £35,000 was raised at the Greek Independence Ball held at the Inter-Continental Hotel to support the Greek Orthodox Charity Organisation which assists members of the Greek and Cypriot community with medical treatment.

At the ball were the honorary president of the charity, his Eminence Gregorios, Archbishop of Thyateira and Great Britain, the High Commissioner of Cyprus, HE Angelos Angelides and Mrs Angelides, Mr Tryphon Kedros and Mrs Chrysanthy Pateras who was ball chairman.

Ενας Ελληνας στην Αγγλία

ΠΙΣΩ από τις μεγάλες και αξιόλογες δραστηριότητες που εμφανίζει τελευταία η Ενωση των ξένων διπλωματών του Λονδίνου (εκτός από τους πρέσβεις) κρύβεται το ελληνικό στοιχείο. Είναι ο Ελληνας διπλωμάτης και μορφωτικός σύμβουλος στην πρεσβεία μας στο Λονδίνο, Αλέξανδρος Ράλλης, πρόεδρος της εν λόγω ένωσης για το τρέχον έτος. Η τελευταία εκδήλωση της Ενωσης Διπλωματών του Λονδίνου ήταν με την πρόεδρο της αγγλικής Βουλής Μπέτι Μπουθρόιντ, που τη βλέπουμε στο στιγμιότυπο με τον Αλέξανδρο Ράλλη. Ρωτούσε με ενδιαφέρον τον Ελληνα διπλωμάτη για την Ελλάδα, το ελληνικό κοινοβούλιο και για την τριήρη, την οποία η πρόεδρος της αγγλικής Βουλής θαύμασε όταν την επιθεώρησε τον περασμένο μήνα στον Τάμεση.

ΤΟ ΕΘΝΟΣ 2/8/1993